About the company

Arkfin Investments and Advisors Private Limited (formerly Plunge Investments Private Limited) was incorporated in May 2018 and is registered with RoC Mumbai. It is the parent of Arkfin Housing Finance Private Limited, an NBFC and an insurance-broking business, and was set up by Anil K. Sachidanand, who spent three decades in banking and lending, including as CEO of Aspire Home Finance. The group's model is to build small, capital-light lending and distribution businesses aimed at self-employed and informal-income borrowers in Maharashtra and neighbouring states, funded by equity from HNI investors rather than public markets.

Consolidated revenue was Rs 5.43 Cr in FY24 according to registry-linked data; the housing-finance subsidiary reported under Rs 10 Cr of revenue in FY25. The company is still sub-scale and its dealer quote carries no meaningful bid.

Reports and documents

Document	Type	Period	Where
Financial statements FY 2024-25	Annual Report	FY25	MCA21 (AOC-4)

Strengths

- Experienced founder-operator with a long track record in retail and housing lending.
- Holds a housing-finance licence, a scarce asset for an early-stage group.
- No public debt at the holding level; growth has been equity funded.

Risks

- Very small revenue base (Rs 5-6 Cr) and thin or negative profitability; valuation rests on future scaling.
- Altius quotes no real bid (Rs 0.01 sell price) - investors may be unable to exit.
- Private limited company: share transfers are subject to Articles-of-Association restrictions and board approval.
- Financials, directors and shareholding below are estimates pending MCA verification.
